

499 Mighty Lord, the God of Vengeance

Psalm 94

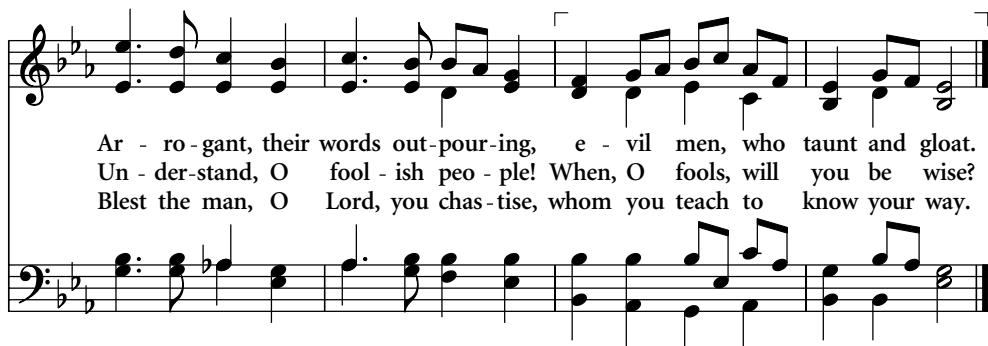

1. Might-y Lord, the God of ven-geance, God of ven-geance, now shine forth!
 2. They, O Lord, have crushed your peo - ple; they your her - i - tage dis - tress;
 3. Who the ear made, does he hear not? Who formed eyes, does he not see?

Rise up, Lord, the judge of na - tions; give the proud what they de - serve.
 they kill strang-er and the wid - ow, mur - der - ing the fa - ther - less.
 Who warns na - tions, teach-es knowl-edge, will he not chas - tise - ment bring?

Lord, how long shall wick - ed men, how long shall wick - ed men ex - ult?
 Yet, they say, "The Lord sees noth-ing; Ja - cob's God does not have eyes."
 Thoughts of man the Lord knows ful - ly, knows that but a breath are they.

Ar - ro-gant, their words out-pour-ing, e - vil men, who taunt and gloat.
 Un - der-stand, O fool - ish peo - ple! When, O fools, will you be wise?
 Blest the man, O Lord, you chas-tise, whom you teach to know your way.

WORDS: The Book of Psalms for Worship, 2009; alt.; metrical setting of Psalm 94

MUSIC: Franz Joseph Haydn, 1797

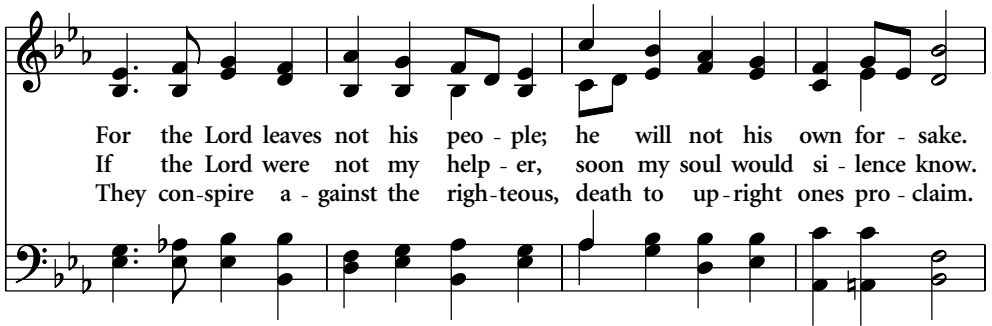

AUSTRIAN HYMN

8.7.8.7.D

Psalm 94

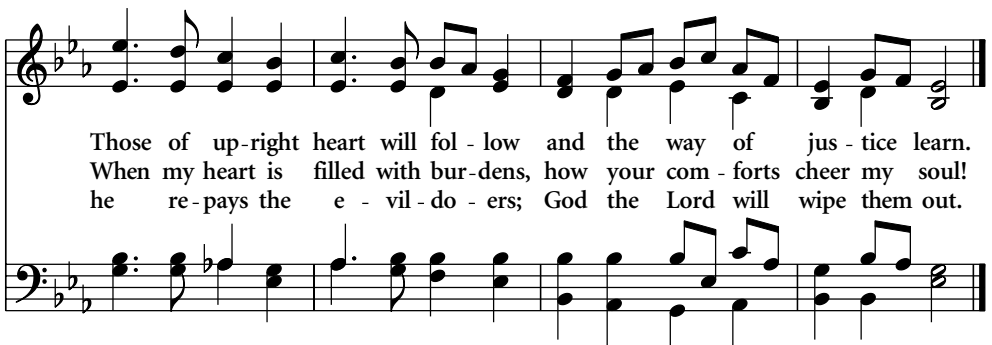

4. Give him rest from days of trou-ble, 'til they dig the wick-ed's grave.
 5. Who will rise for my de-liv-'rance, stand for me a-gainst the foe?
 6. Can the wick-ed princ-es join you, who by law in-jus-tice frame?

For the Lord leaves not his peo-ple; he will not his own for-sake.
 If the Lord were not my help-er, soon my soul would si-lence know.
 They con-spire a-gainst the righ-teous, death to up-right ones pro-claim.

Righ-teous judg-ments will be ren-dered, jus-tice will a-gain re-turn.
 If I say, "My foot is slip-ping!" Lord, your mer-cy will up-hold.
 But the Lord is still my strong-hold; God, my ref-uge, God, my rock—

Those of up-right heart will fol-low and the way of jus-tice learn.
 When my heart is filled with bur-dens, how your com-forts cheer my soul!
 he re-pays the e-vil-do-ers; God the Lord will wipe them out.